

I am very pleased with the current NO-Call ruling that I think it should be left alone. I don't think that banks require any special consideration. Only recently have the mortgage companies finally begun to leave us alone. It is really pleasant to be able to eat an evening meal without the phone ringing.